Director's Corner:

Greetings HPL Community!

I am proud of the progress we have made since reopening back in June of this year. During this time, we have been helping people gain access to critical correspondence and information online, providing readers' advisory, offering a wide range of programming, and more. While it is not ideal to have some of the areas closed to access, I must admit that it has been exciting spending time at the root of librarianship, assisting people by asking questions to understand their needs and interests better.

As we move toward late Fall, our goal is to begin to open more of the Library up for browsing, increase access to internet stations, and further work at ensuring staff and patrons are safe while accessing the buildings. On that note, I appreciate your wearing a mask when visiting us. We are in this together, and safety is of the utmost importance.

One last thing I want to share with you, HPL is now completely fines free. No more pesky fines for items returned late! We want to make it possible for everyone we hope to serve to participate in community resource sharing. Please return your items on time to allow someone else the opportunity to enjoy it or unlock the knowledge it contains.

Best wishes, Joe Zappacosta, Director, Hackley Public Library
